Learn the latest about 737 MAX and Boeing's Human Resources system changes

The Boeing Company is the state's largest private employer in Washington today thanks in part to all of your hard work and dedication. As a long-standing partner in Boeing's success, you have likely felt the impact of the two 737 MAX crashes to the victims, their families and loved ones, and their communities. We would like to invite you to learn more about the 737 MAX—past, present and future.

Please join us for a special breakfast event with John Hamilton, chief engineer for Boeing Commercial Airplanes. He will share some background and history on the development of the 737 MAX as well as the engineering solution Boeing presented to the FAA and the return-to-service plan.

You will also hear from Boeing Human Resources representatives, who will walk you through the recent changes to how many retirees now access their benefits. Representatives will also be available to answer individual questions.

RSVP today to reserve your seat. Space is limited and tickets are being distributed on a first come basis. Parking vouchers are available.
