New tax for all W-2 wage earners in Washington State set to go into effect January 1st, 2022!

IMPORTANT

Washington State house Bill 1323-2021-22:

The "Washington State Long Term Care Act" creates a 58-cent tax for every $100 earned. Example: $100,000 in wages will result in a $580 per year tax with potential increases. This provides limited coverage with a mandatory tax that is not capped at .058% of W-2 wages.

How much Long-Term Care does this provide for Washington state residents?

How much will it cost you and your children?

How can you OPT OUT of this tax for all W-2 wage earners in Washington?

Why would you OPT OUT of this tax!

What are the deadlines to OPT Out?
