

Seattle is poised to set an example for the rest of the nation on how business, philanthropy, individuals, and nonprofit organizations can collaborate to create significant, lasting change for housing affordability.

Please join one or more of our engaging conversations with Habitat for Humanity International CEO, Jonathan Reckford, and other distinguished guests, on August 16.

Don't miss this unique opportunity to network and to engage with the community. We look forward to seeing you!

Habitat for Humanity Donor Luncheon — 12:30-1:45 p.m.

Location at the Westin: 5th Avenue Room, Grand Level – 4th Floor

Join us for lunch and conversation as Jonathan shares his insights on the challenges of building affordable housing in a for-profit world and moving with intention from being primarily a home builder to a partner and catalyst for worldwide access to safe, decent, and affordable housing.

Closing the Racial Homeownership Gap Forum & Reception — 5-7 p.m.

Location at the Westin: 5th Avenue Room, Grand Level – 4th Floor

Reception with heavy hors d'oeuvres will follow the forum in the Grand Crescent Room & Foyer, Grand Level – 4th Floor

Join us as an esteemed panel discuss our need to focus on equitable homeownership while confronting our legacy of segregation. Homeownership rates and economic development in predominantly Black communities lag far behind the rest of the country. Be a part of a conversation discussing strategies and solutions to increase investments and stability in communities of color to help close the Black homeownership gap.

Panelists include Lieutenant Governor Denny Heck, Seattle Mayor Bruce Harrell, Jonathan Reckford, and the Black Home Initiative's Nicole Bascomb-Green.

RSVP by emailing Jennifer Burkhart - <mailto:jennifer.burkhart@habitatskc.org>.

Include your name, title, organization, and contact details and indicate which events you are registering for and include any dietary restrictions:
